Students and teachers explored the theme of Mercy through prayer, scripture, music and multi-media as part of the Circle of Mercy tour to school and parish communities in the Diocese of Rockhampton last month.

Ministry Hub facilitators, Monica O'Brien and Gina Ogilvie, presented prayerful, creative and engaging experiences to over 4000 participants from all regions in the diocese during the two-week long tour.

Participants were invited to enter into the Circle of Mercy and reflect on God’s mercy and how they can bring mercy to their homes, schools and wider communities.

Tour organiser and Catholic Education Diocesan Consultant - Religious Education, Vicki Heggie, said the gatherings provided a unique and exciting opportunity for students and staff to focus on the Year of Mercy.

“The sessions were interactive and uplifting and generated a great positive energy about how we as individuals can bring mercy into our lives and those we encounter and effect a real change in our communities,” Mrs Heggie said.
